

Enfant can be utilized on pre-verbal children as young as six months of age (no patient response or recognition skills needed, compliance minimal, objective “pass or fail” reading)

Visual maturity after this age, amblyopia is not likely to occur and in the usual case is not successfully treated.

Average start of children’s routine eye exam (using pediatrician observation along with Snellen Eye Chart, or similar, which requires patient response and full compliance needed; subjective); starts approximately at age 3-4, or later
